1. What did the project seek to accomplish?
2. What worked? How many were served? Other statistical information to report?
3. What didn't work? What lessons were learned that would be helpful to others considering a similar type of mission opportunity in their area?
4. How did this project help in fulfilling the stated mission of your congregation or agency? Did others from your community or other churches participate?
5. Include a budget sheet showing how the grant money was spent. How much did your church contribute? If the project was outside the church (to a community shelter, for example) you need to submit a financial review or audit with the final report.
6. With what other Presbyterian churches did you share about your grant?
